

Republican Themes:
Hearing on Misclassification of Independent Contractors
May 8, 2007

1. Ten million Americans work as independent contractors today, contributing to the flexibility and strength of the U.S. economy.
2. This flexibility also helps workers pursue the American dream while balancing family and other needs.
3. Republicans are concerned that some workers may be misclassified as independent contractors.
4. We look forward to exploring these issues to make sure that workers get the benefits and protections they are supposed to and that all taxpayers are treated fairly and equitably.
